HOW AND WHY DO WE PUNISH PEOPLE IN BRITAIN TODAY?

Crime & Punishment examines our diverse and often contradictory attitudes towards crime and punishment. It takes a long hard look at the criminal and the penal process.

ALL VIEWS ARE REPRESENTED

- The victims: Betrayed by the criminal justice system?
- The criminals: Who are they and why do they do it?
- Prison staff: Jailers or reformers?
- Police: Mediating between the victim and the offender?
- Media: Do they exploit the situation?
- Politicians: Leaders or followers of public opinion?

Crime and punishment is a high profile issue. The media and politicians have seized on it as an opportunity for tough talking. Why? Who benefits? Is Britain too punitive?

TOPICS INCLUDE

- Should we get tough with offenders?
- Does punishment deter the criminal?
- Can offending behaviour be changed?
- Should victims have a say in punishment?
- What's it like inside?
- Is restorative justice the answer?

Crime & Punishment: supporting Activity Sheets draw out the social, moral & political issues.

"The most balanced, comprehensive, thought-provoking and brutally honest documentary on crime and punishment to be published in the last ten years; it is required watching for all schools, colleges, universities."
